Man accused of pimping teen girl in Plantation

Police who stopped a 27-year-old man for a traffic infraction in Plantation found he had allegedly been prostituting a teen girl who they found in the car with him.

Giorgio Baker, of Davie, was ordered held without bail in Broward County jail during his first-appearance court hearing Thursday.

According to a police report read by Broward County Judge John "Jay" Hurley, Baker's alleged victim was in the car wearing "tight negligee in cold weather and excessive makeup."

A police investigation followed. Hurley said she told police she was 18. It was determined she was instead 16. "She was acting as a prostitute and giving him the money," the judge said.

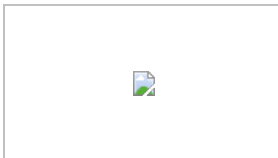

Baker was arrested Wednesday and charged with procuring a minor for prostitution, recruiting or harboring transportation for prostitution, rent for prostitution, direct promotion of sexual performance of a child and other offenses.

He is also accused of failing to wear a safety belt and driving with a suspended license.

Anyone who thinks an abused 16 year old is legitimate and quotes the Bible supporting prostitution is a mentally sick individual. Mark, I would encourage you to seek mental health counseling. Seriously.

The Bible says 16 year-olds are capable of making their own sexual decisions. She knew what she was doing and she enjoyed it. Time to decriminalize prostitution.

A 16-year-old is an adult capable of making her own stupid decisions.
