A 19-year-old suburban Lake Worth woman is in serious condition this morning after a car wreck in Port St. Lucie, according to a police spokesman.

Just before 6:30 a.m., Cathryn M. Stalnaker of suburban Lake Worth, was driving in a 2005 red Saturn north on Southeast Seafury Lane. She was attempting to head west on Southeast Port St. Lucie Boulevard and crossed the eastbound lanes of the boulevard when she was T-boned by another vehicle.

James Lambert, 62, of Port St. Lucie was driving in a 2007 blue Chevrolet Tahoe and struck Stalnaker, according to a Port St. Lucie Police spokesman.

St. Lucie County Fire Rescue crews cut Stalnaker out of her vehicle. She was then flown to a local hospital with life-threatening injuries.

Two of three eastbound lanes of Southeast Port St. Lucie Boulevard just east of Southeast Westmoreland Boulevard are closed.

6:30 it is still dark and very dangerous to drive. Daylight savings made things worse.
